

Alfred I, Prince of Windisch-Grätz

Alfred I, Prince of Windisch-Grätz (1818–1890) was an Austrian nobleman and military officer. He was a member of the House of Windisch-Grätz, one of the most prominent noble families in Austria.

Contents

- 1 Early life
- 2 Military career
- 3 Family
- 4 Personal life
- 5 Death
- 6 Legacy

Background

Alfred was born in the Windisch-Grätz family, which was one of the most prominent noble families in Austria. He was the son of Prince Alfred, Duke of Windisch-Grätz, and Princess Maria Theresia. He was educated in the military and served in the Austrian army.

Alfred I, Prince of Windisch-Grätz

Prince Alfred I, Duke of Windisch-Grätz

Birth	1 July 1818 Vienna, Austria
Death	21 March 1890 Vienna, Austria
Parents	Prince Alfred, Duke of Windisch-Grätz Princess Maria Theresia

Alfred I, Prince of Windisch-Grätz

Napoleon

Alfred served in the Austrian army during the Napoleonic Wars. He was a member of the Windisch-Grätz family, which was one of the most prominent noble families in Austria.

Alfred was a member of the Windisch-Grätz family, which was one of the most prominent noble families in Austria. He was educated in the military and served in the Austrian army.

Netherlands

Alfred was a member of the Windisch-Grätz family, which was one of the most prominent noble families in Austria. He was educated in the military and served in the Austrian army.

Alfred was a member of the Windisch-Grätz family, which was one of the most prominent noble families in Austria. He was educated in the military and served in the Austrian army.

Hungary

Alfred was a member of the Windisch-Grätz family, which was one of the most prominent noble families in Austria. He was educated in the military and served in the Austrian army.

Alfred was a member of the Windisch-Grätz family, which was one of the most prominent noble families in Austria.

Birth	1 July 1818 Vienna, Austria
Death	21 March 1890 Vienna, Austria
Parents	Prince Alfred, Duke of Windisch-Grätz Princess Maria Theresia

Alfred I

Prince Alfred I, Duke of Windisch-Grätz

Birth	1 July 1818 Vienna, Austria
Death	21 March 1890 Vienna, Austria
Parents	Prince Alfred, Duke of Windisch-Grätz Princess Maria Theresia
Spouse	Princess Maria Theresia
Children	Prince Alfred, Duke of Windisch-Grätz Princess Maria Theresia